

Coaching tools

VUCA Pulse Check

Digital tool

Quick results

Scientifically based

The uncertain and complex VUCA work environment sets very specific requirements for those interested in coaching. The VUCA Pulse Check helps you as a coach to identify the VUCA-specific strengths and development areas of your coachees. Our self-assessment tool presents you with a comprehensive and valid picture of the key VUCA traits of your coachees, providing individual starting points for more in-depth questions and coaching strategies.

„Uncertainty is a very good thing: it's the beginning of an investigation, & the investigation should never end.“ Tim Crouch

As part of the modern, digitalised working world, people are constantly exposed to abrupt, unpredictable change processes as well as ambiguous, unsettling situations. They operate within complex systems with a multitude of influences that make it difficult to maintain an overview. It can seem all but impossible to make decisions in such an environment.

To product page
Here you'll find more information on VUCA and our tool

ELIGO's digital VUCA Pulse Check

We've used our expertise in aptitude testing to develop a tool to help you with your work as a coach. With the VUCA Pulse Check, you get a digital self-assessment tool that shows the degree to which each of your coachees possess the qualities found in research to be important in the modern VUCA work environment.

To get these results, the coachees provide information on:

- Motivation
- Interaction with other people
- Confidence in their own abilities
- Understanding of leadership
- Dealing with failure and ambiguous situations

The results are clearly compiled for you in an easy-to-use PDF feedback report with interpretation guide. In combination with the coaching best practices personally developed by you and your development recommendations, you can thus expand your coaching toolbox to include a sound, fast and solution-oriented element.

You sign up and receive helpful information on the process

We send you the link to the check. Your coachees can get started

You receive the results of the coachees as a PDF

We advise you on more in-depth interpretation

You empower your coachees through valid evaluation

Coaches strengthen the personal resources of people who make decisions under uncertainty. The VUCA Pulse Check boosts coaches with a tool that quickly and accurately reveals the individual factors that stress or energise their coachees. Contact us to find out more.

