Impress the people you want to attract through speed and added value

Our online assessments are a means of quickly assessing personality traits, skills and abilities relevant to professional success in a way that is free of subjective "distortions", e.g. due to personal likes or dislikes.

With our online assessments, you get a modern, time-saving tool that provides automated, personalised and respectful feedback to candidates and, through supplementary modules (such as an image video), offers added value in your recruitment process and a fantastic candidate experience. Your candidates will find the process quick, transparent and meaningful.

Three steps to your online assessment

Define the requirement profile

Our experienced consultants work with you to determine what your applicants should bring to the table to perfectly match your requirements.

Select the test package

Together we choose the scales and features relevant to you. You can select between pre-configured or individually compiled test packages.

Get started

We provide access and helpful information to get you started. A personal consultant and our in-house support team are always there for you.
